Celebrating 25 Years of Lamb & Lion Ministries
Dave Reagan and Tim LaHaye

Observations by the Editor

1980 - 2005

Twenty-five years! Twenty-five glorious years of incredible blessings.

I have only two regrets. First, we could be celebrating 45 years if I had not run from the Lord for 20 years after He first called me. I will always regret responding to the Lord's gracious call by saying, "Here am I, Lord. Send someone else!"

I ran, and I ran hard. But even when I was unfaithful, the Lord was faithful to me, never giving up on me, always waiting patiently for me to get to the end of myself.

If we are faithless, He remains faithful; for He cannot deny Himself. — 2 Timothy 2:13

My second regret is that the Lord has not returned. I had hoped and prayed that we would never reach this 25th anniversary — that the Lord would return first. He has promised that He will come back, and He will be faithful to that promise, just as He is always faithful to keep His promises. Peter explained it this way: "The Lord is not slow about His promise [to return], as some count slowness, but is patient toward you, not wishing for any to perish, but for all to come to repentance" (2 Peter 3:9).

The Early Years

I remember well those early years of this ministry when I took my first baby steps of faith. It was scary. I had resigned a good, high-paying job as vice president of a university to live by faith, not knowing where I would preach or how I would sustain myself and my family.

I had spent years studying faith and talking about it — even teaching about it. But to actually live by faith was a whole different world.

I learned one thing very quickly. When you are totally dependent on the Lord (as we all are), and you fully realize it, you start spending a lot of time on your knees. I began to pray as I had never prayed before — intensely, fervently, persistently, and specifically. And the Lord kept me on my knees by supplying every need at the last possible moment.

Ann & Dave Reagan

But the point is that He met all my needs, because He is faithful. He had called me, and He was going to sustain me. I just had to learn to trust in His faithfulness.

Faithful is He who calls you, and He also will bring it to pass — 1 Thessalonians 5:24

Exciting Years

I have been privileged to serve the Lord during 25 of the most exciting years in human history. During that time, the Berlin Wall came down, the Soviet Union collapsed, Eastern Europe was liberated, and a United States of Europe emerged.

But all of these events together pale in importance compared to what God has been doing among the Jewish people. Their worldwide regathering and the re-establishment of their state are the fulfillment of promises that God made to the Jews centuries ago.

When I witness how faithful the Lord has been in fulfilling his promises to the Jews, my faith is increased. I am encouraged to believe that He will be just as faithful in fulfilling all the promises He has made to the Church. ✚

Celebrating 25 Years of God's Faithfulness

Lamb & Lion Ministries turned 25 years old on April 1st of this year. That anniversary was celebrated on June 24th with a banquet that was held at McKinney Fellowship Bible Church in McKinney, Texas.

Over 400 people attended the gathering. Most were from the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, but others came from surrounding states and from places as far away as Georgia. One gentleman, David Gourley of Hagerstown, Maryland, rode a bus for two days to attend the banquet.

The theme of the banquet was "A Celebration of 25 years of God's Faithfulness." The ministry's founder and director, Dr. David Reagan, presented a PowerPoint overview of the ministry's history.

Jack Hollingsworth of Acts 29 Ministries presented a gospel music concert that was highlighted by a praise medley involving all the audience. Dr. Tim LaHaye, America's foremost Bible prophecy writer, was the featured speaker. He spoke on the importance of studying Bible prophecy.

Dr. David Reagan welcomes supporters who attended the ministry's 25th anniversary celebration which was held at a church in McKinney, Texas.

Mr. Mark Strickland, Chairman of the Board of Lamb & Lion Ministries, presented Dr. Reagan and his wife, Ann, with a plaque honoring their 25 years of service to the ministry. The plaque noted that the ministry was founded on April Fool's Day in 1980 and that Dave and Ann had served as "fools for Christ," quoting the Apostle Paul's words in 1 Corinthians 4:10.

Honoring Dennis Pollock

Dave and Dennis embrace following the special recognition that was given to Dennis and his new ministry.

Dr. Reagan gave special recognition to his colleague of 12 years, Dennis Pollock, who recently announced that he was resigning from Lamb & Lion to form a ministry of his own. Dr. Reagan presented Dennis with a sculpture of Jesus washing the feet of Peter, pointing out that the sculpture was symbolic of Dennis' servant-like attitude during his service with Lamb & Lion. Dr. Reagan then shared two scriptures with him that he hoped would encourage Dennis as much as they had encouraged him during the early years of Lamb & Lion. Both were from Zechariah 4. One stated "Do not despise small things when God is in them" (verse 10). The other was a warning not to rely on human strength but on the power of the Holy Spirit (verse 6).

Dr. Reagan then reminisced about the financial struggles he faced during the early years of Lamb & Lion. Stating that he realized that financial challenges are characteristic of any new ministry, Dr. Reagan then presented Dennis with a check for $5,000 to assist with the establishment of his new ministry.

Recognizing Sister Ministries

Dr. Reagan also recognized the leaders of four Bible prophecy ministries that Lamb & Lion has been instrumental in helping to get started. They were:

- Gary Fisher of Lion of Judah Ministries in Franklin, Tennessee.

David Gourley from Hagerstown, Maryland, shows two gifts he received in recognition of his zeal for Bible prophecy. He was given a copy of Tim LaHaye's book Understanding Bible Prophecy for Yourself and a statue entitled "The Empty Cross." David rode a bus for two days to get to the banquet. He is a Bible prophecy teacher at his home church.

- Don Perkins of According to Prophecy Ministries in San Diego, California.
- Al Gist of Maranatha Evangelistic Ministries in De Ridder, Louisiana.
- Don McGee of Crown & Sickie Ministries in Amite, Louisiana.

All four were present at the banquet and also had display tables about their ministries. Another ministry Lamb & Lion has assisted is Treasured Truth Ministries in Belfast, Northern Ireland, but its founder, Kenneth Humphries, could not be present.

Dave Reagan with Don Perkins and Tim LaHaye.

Ministering in Song

Jack Hollingsworth of Acts 29 Ministries presented an anointed concert of gospel music. Jack is the featured singer on the ministry's television program, "Christ in Prophecy." Dr. Reagan refers to Jack as "Jumping Jack" because of the great enthusiasm which he shows for the Lord when he sings. All of Jack's songs were videotaped and will be used on future TV programs.

Ministering in the Word

Dr. Tim LaHaye presented seven reasons why all Christians should be interested in studying Bible prophecy:

- 1) It proves that God exists.
- 2) It proves that the Bible was inspired by God.
- 3) It proves that Jesus was the Messiah.
- 4) It guarantees the return of Jesus.
- 5) It comforts us in times of chaos.
- 6) It reveals the future.
- 7) It prepares us for death.

Dr. Tim LaHaye spent a lot of time, both before the banquet and afterward, signing books. Above he is shown talking with a sailor, Kevin Neal, who drove from San Diego, California with his wife.

Thanking the Lord

Dr. Reagan emphasized repeatedly that the purpose of the evening was to celebrate the Lord's faithfulness. He read Lamentations 3:21-24:

The steadfast love of the Lord never ceases; His mercies never come to an end. They are new every morning. Great is Thy faithfulness. "The Lord is my portion," says my soul; therefore I will hope in Him. (RSV)

Dr. Reagan also read from the great hymn written by Thomas O. Chisholm in 1923:

Great is Thy faithfulness, O God my Father. There is no shadow of turning with Thee. Thou changest not, Thy compassions, they fail not. As Thou hast been, Thou forever will be.

Great is Thy faithfulness!
Great is Thy faithfulness!
Morning by morning new mercies I see.

All I have needed Thy hand hath provided.

Great is Thy faithfulness,
Lord unto me!

The Lord has been faithful to us for 25 years, and we praise Him for His loving-kindness.✝

25 Years A Testimony to God's Faithfulness

Dr. David R. Reagan

The Rock! His work is perfect, for all His ways are just; A God of faithfulness and without injustice, righteous and upright is He. — Deuteronomy 32:4

When I think of God's faithfulness, I am always reminded of a powerful personal testimony I heard years ago by Mr. James Watt who was serving at the time as President Ronald Reagan's Secretary of the Interior.

A Moving Testimony

Mr. Watt began his testimony by telling about how he had grown up attending both Baptist and Methodist churches. He said he never realized how liberal the churches were until he had a personal encounter with the Lord at a Full Gospel Business Men's meeting in Washington, D.C.

"I would never have accepted the invitation to attend the meeting if I would have had the foggiest idea of what it was all about," Watt declared.

He had gone to church for 40 years, and he had never heard the term, "Full Gospel." Nor had he ever experienced an altar call. The churches he had attended were not evangelistic, and they were highly liturgical in nature.

Needless to say, the Full Gospel Business Men's meeting came as quite a shock. First there was a lot of "riotous worship," and then there was some "passionate preaching." Watt felt very uncomfortable. The feeling of uneasiness began to intensify as the speaker ended his presentation.

"Do you have a personal relationship with Jesus?" the man asked.

The question grabbed Watt's attention, mainly because he had no idea what the man was talking about.

"Jesus said in John 17 that the essence of salvation is knowing

God and His Son. Do you know Jesus? Really know Him?"

There was the question again. Watt had never heard anyone talk that way. As he wrestled with the question, the man began to explain that he was going to offer an altar call.

"If you want a personal relationship with Jesus, please come forward."

The men stood and started singing. Watt was at a loss as to what he should do. "Surely he's not talking to me," he thought. "After all, I go to church every Sunday."

The thought had hardly crossed his mind when he heard the speaker say, "Some of you go to church every Sunday, but you don't have a relationship with Jesus." Watt was astonished. It was almost as if this fellow could read his mind.

"I know he can't be talking to me," Watt thought, "because I teach a Sunday School class."

And then it happened again. "Some of you teach Sunday School," the speaker proclaimed, "but you have no relationship with Jesus."

Watt was really getting uncomfortable. He began looking around for the exit.

"He's got to be talking to these other guys," he thought. "After all, I'm a deacon and I tithe."

"Some of you are church officers and you tithe, but you have never met Jesus!" the speaker declared. The words seemed to be spoken with thunder.

That was it. Watt could resist no longer. He went forward. The speaker prayed for him, and that evening, after 40 years of church attendance, James Watt met Jesus and accepted Him as his Lord and Savior.

Spiritual Hunger

The first thing Watt noticed spiritually in the days that followed was the deadness of his home church. There was no joy or enthusiasm in the worship. Watt's soul was suddenly yearning to worship. So, he began to sneak around on Sunday evenings, trying to find a church where people really gave themselves to the Lord in worship.

After six months in Dave's home and a year in a rented facility, the Ministry purchased this house in Plano, Texas. The Ministry was housed here from 1982 to 1984.

In 1983 one of the Ministry's trustees gave the Ministry five acres of land near Princeton, Texas — about 40 miles north of Dallas. The land was given the name, "Maranatha Acres."

He found one. It was Pentecostal. It was not the kind of refined church that he had always attended. He was afraid of being recognized, but he continued attending because the worship ministered to his spirit.

He soon discovered that the church had a special service on Friday evenings where people were given an opportunity to witness their experiences with God. He thrilled over the stories he heard, and before long, he decided to get openly involved. He just couldn't contain himself any longer. He simply had to share what God was doing in his life.

Witnessing the Lord

He jumped to his feet and rushed to the front. "I've gone to church for 40 years," he announced, "but I have known Jesus only three months. I'm discovering that He is still the same as the Jesus you read about in the New Testament. For example, I have discovered that He still performs miracles!"

Watt proceeded to share an encounter with a homeless drunk who was panhandling on the streets of Washington, D.C. "Instead of ignoring him or pushing him aside, I decided to share Jesus with him and pray for him. To my astonishment, he accepted the Lord, and he was instantly, miraculously delivered from his desire for alcohol. He's here with me tonight!"

The congregation broke out in thunderous applause, and Watt returned to his seat triumphantly.

Then, Mrs. Johnson went forward. "I just want to say that I accepted Jesus as my Lord and Savior 20 years ago, and He has kept me for 20 years." That was it. Nothing spectacular. Nothing to shout about.

Watt felt sorry for the lady. "Surely she can come up with something better than that," he thought.

The next week, Watt arrived biting at the bit to share his latest experience with God.

"A friend of mine and I went to the hospital this week to visit a dear brother who was on his death bed, given no hope of recovery. We anointed him with oil and prayed for him, and I rejoice to tell you that he is here with us tonight." Again, a thunderous ovation.

And then came Mrs. Johnson. "I just want to say that I accepted Jesus as my Lord and Savior 20 years ago, and He has kept me for 20 years."

Watt couldn't believe it. Every week this woman gave the same dull, monotonous, uninspiring testimony. And so it continued week after week.

The Powerful Point

At that point in his testimony, Watt stopped. Tears welled up in his eyes, and he began to choke for words.

Finally, after he had composed himself, he spoke the words that touched my heart — words I shall never forget.

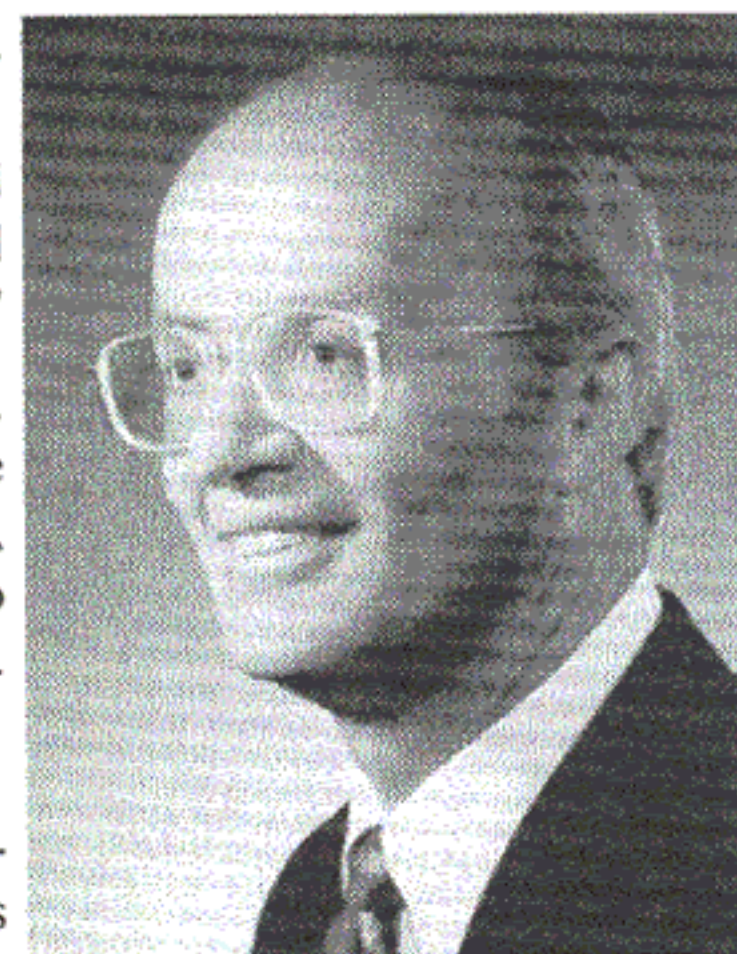

"Folks, all that happened 20 years ago when I was new in the Lord and before I knew anything about walking with God. Tonight, I want to tell you that the greatest, most spectacular miracle of my life since my salvation is that God has kept me for 20 years."

James Watt had discovered that Mrs. Johnson had a testimony after all.

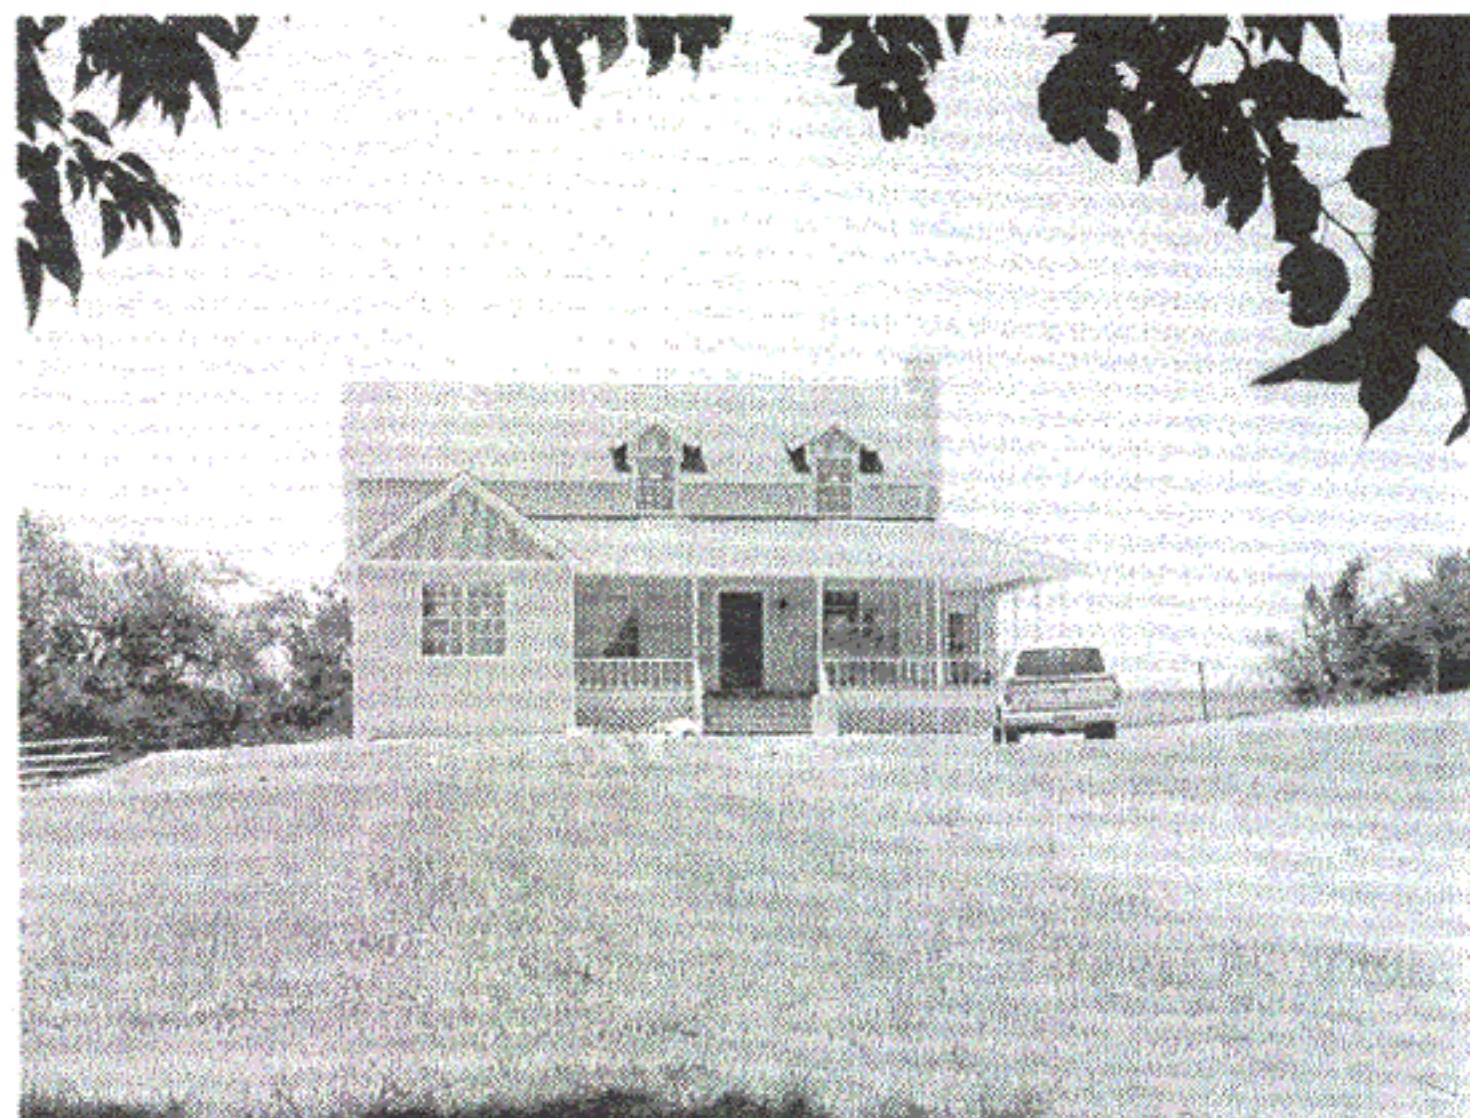

Remembering God's Faithfulness

We at Lamb & Lion have made that discovery as well. Day after day, week after week, month after month, and year after year, God has faithfully provided us with two things: opportunities to proclaim our message of the Lord's soon return, and the resources needed to fulfill those opportunities. He has kept us, and He has kept us well.

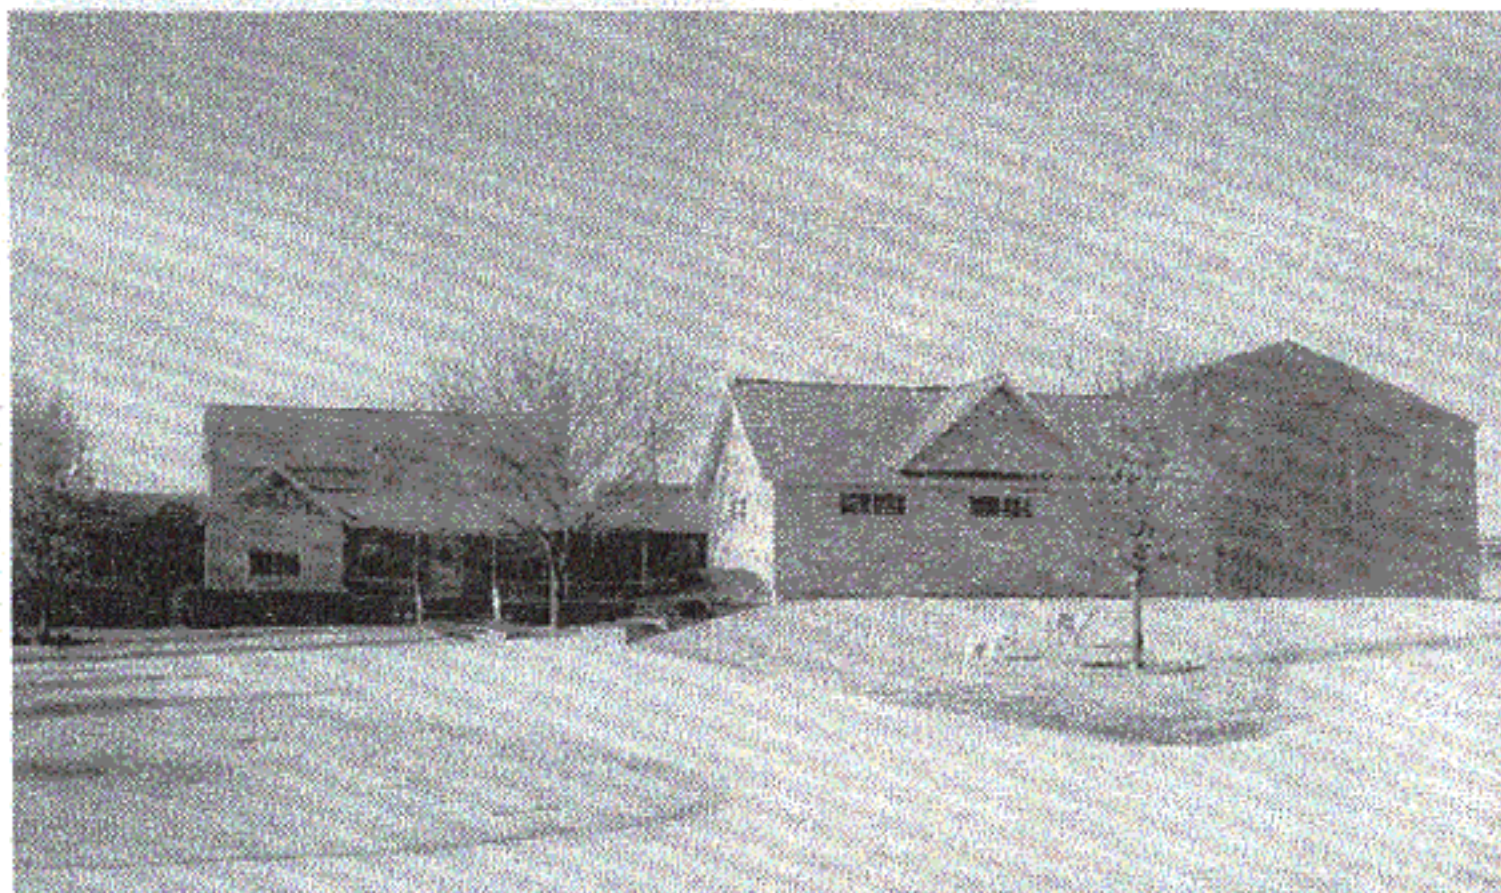

I can vividly remember when I did not have enough money to print and mail out a newsletter to only a couple of hundred people. This past year our income totaled over 1.2 million dollars, and we are currently mailing our magazine to over 20,000 addresses.

James Watt

In 1984 a new headquarters building was constructed on the land in Princeton, Texas. It was designed to look like a country home.

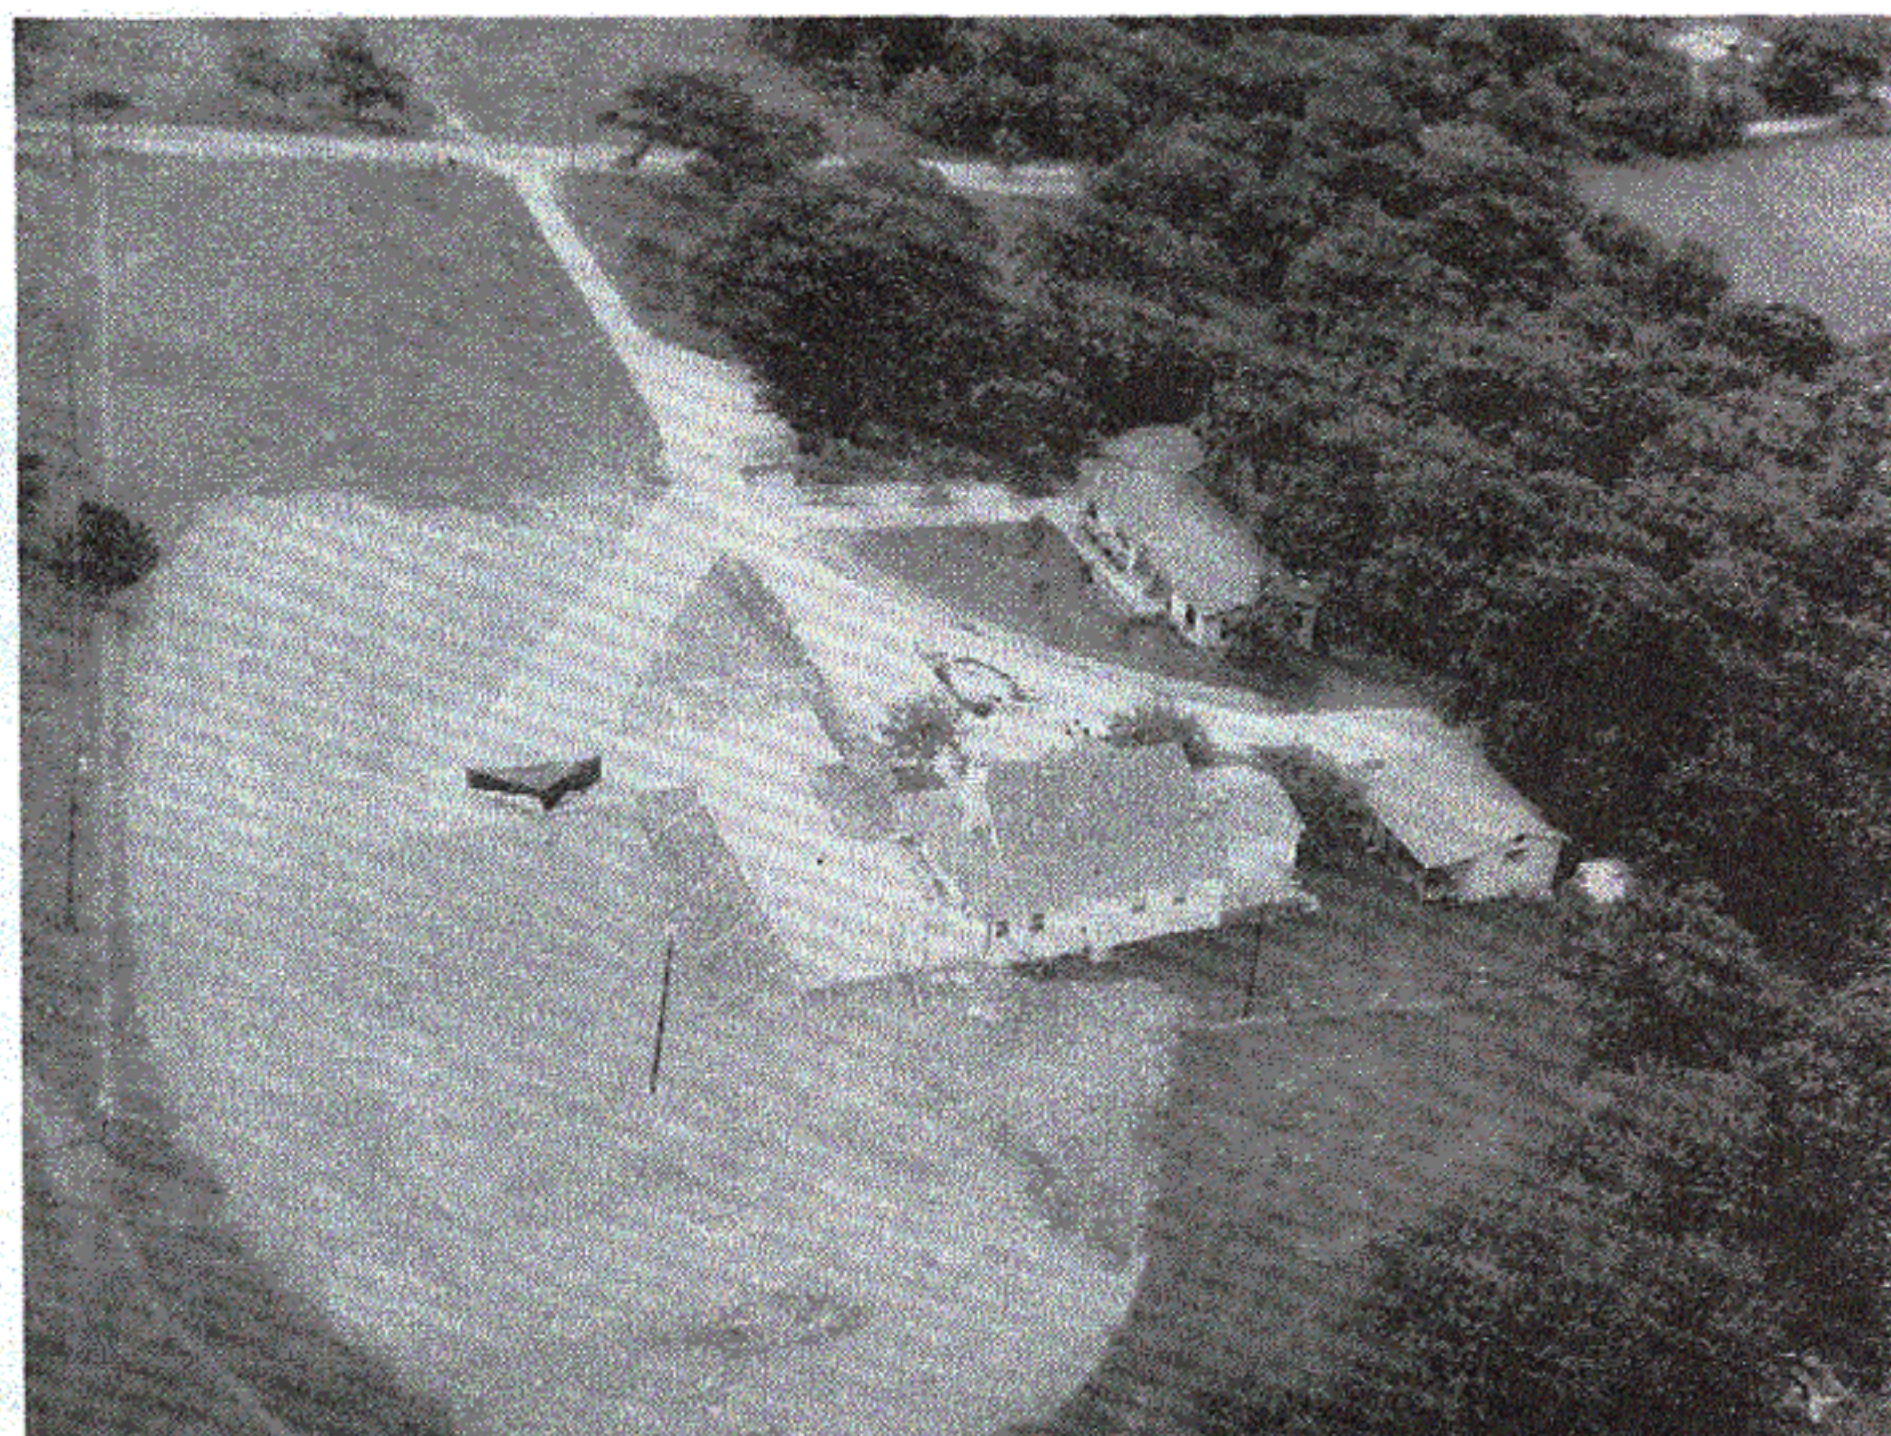

The Ministry's headquarters building as it appears today. The large building on the far right is the new video studio that was built in 1999. The building to its left is the mail processing center that was added in 1994.

I can remember when the entire ministry was in one bedroom of a small duplex. When I could cram nothing else into that room, and I decided to head down the hallway to take over the master bedroom, my wife said, "That's it. You're out of here!" Today we have a magnificent facility on five acres of land, and it is all paid for.

I can remember when I recorded radio programs on a cheap recorder I bought at Radio Shack. I had no mixing board because I couldn't afford one. The programs were delivered to the station in Dallas without a musical opening or closing. The station was supposed to supply those. Sometimes that important need was overlooked. Today, we are blessed with outstanding digital equipment for audio and video recording.

I can remember when I was the only staff member. I had to do everything — type letters, make phone calls, record donations, send out receipts, duplicate tapes, and keep the books. My wife, who was a first grade teacher, helped when she could. Today, I am blessed with a staff of eight people who are dedicated to serving God. All of them love the Lord. All have been called by the Lord. I have been relieved of doing all the things that for years distracted me from my fundamental tasks of study, writing, recording, and preaching.

An aerial view of the Ministry made in 1994 when the mail processing center was under construction.

Further Memories

I can clearly remember the pre-computer days when all our newsletters were addressed by hand from a file of index cards. Letters were typed on a manual typewriter. Printed items for distribution were run off on a duplicator machine that would print no more than a hundred copies before the purple ink faded. Today we are blessed with a network of computers. With them we can easily manage our mailing list, and we can perform desktop publishing (without getting our hands purple from the ink!).

I can well remember the terrible "summer slumps" that plagued us during the first seven years of the ministry. Each year, during June, July and August, we seemed to be forgotten by everyone except the Lord. We would pray earnestly for a good December to make up the gap. The Lord always provided, but we went right down to the wire on several occasions — to the last day of the year! Today the summer slumps have evened out due to our Prophecy Partner Program that now includes 1,300 faithful supporters. And, praise God, we just ended our 25th year in a row with all bills paid in full.

I can painfully remember many times when I was not faithful to the Lord, when I was not a good steward of my time and resources, when I blew opportunities and got in the way of what God was trying to accomplish. But the Lord has been faithful when I was faithless.

He has graciously sustained my health, blessed my work, and sustained the ministry. He has, in the words of Mrs. Johnson, "kept us for 25 years."

Thank you, Lord, for your faithfulness.

Know therefore that the Lord your God, He is God, the faithful God, who keeps His covenant and His lovingkindness to a thousandth generation with those who love Him and keep His commandments. — Deuteronomy 7:9 ✚

25 Years -- Thanks to Key People

Four people were instrumental in founding Lamb & Lion Ministries. God laid the vision of the Ministry on the heart of a humble servant named Dudley Head who lived in Irving, Texas. He was the one who went to Dr. Reagan and told him that he believed that God wanted him to step out in faith and form a ministry that would be devoted to proclaiming the soon return of Jesus.

The second key person was Bob Yarborough, Sr., a godly church leader in Dallas. When Dave shared Dudley's vision with Bob, he also encouraged Dave to take the step of faith and volunteered to help organize a board of trustees. Bob later was selected as the first chairman of the board, and provided outstanding leadership during the early years of the Ministry.

God worked through a remarkable lady named Bernice Gumm Gammon to provide the faith needed to launch the Ministry. She was the one who assured Dave that the Lord would meet every one of his needs if he would only resign his job and take the plunge. She then astonished Dave by telling him that she would give him her car and $3,000 of a $6,000 inheritance she had received. Bernice was very poor financially, but she was rich in faith, and she had a generous heart.

The fourth key person was a Dallas businessman by the name of Buddie Ball. Although he hardly knew Dave, when he heard about the possibility that Dave might form a ministry devoted to Bible prophecy, he immediately pledged $500 a month. Buddie proceeded to provide most of the Ministry's funding during its early years.

The Prophecy Partner Program

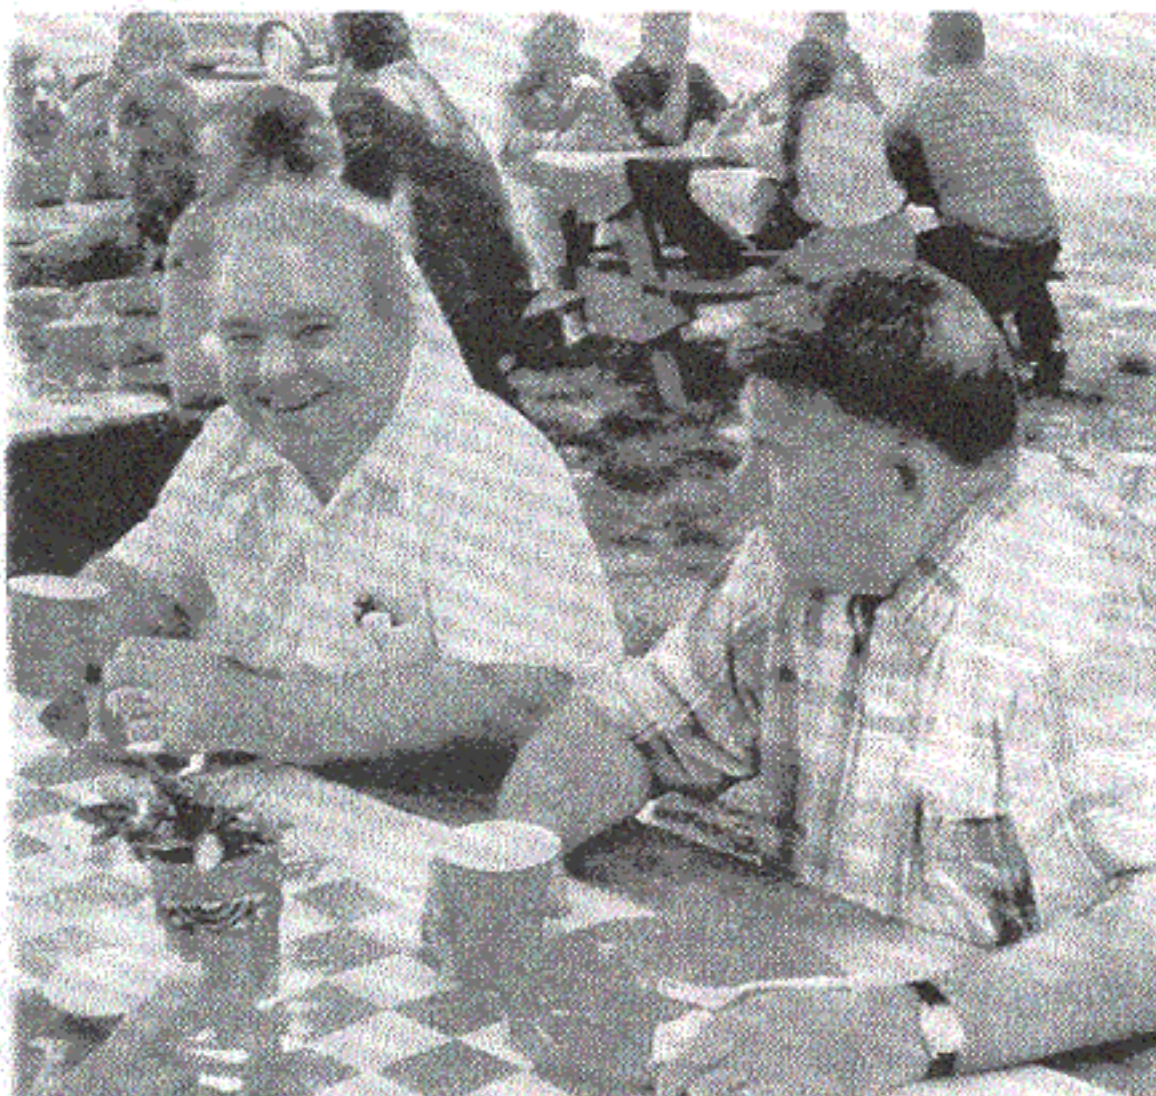

Six years after the Ministry was founded, God worked through another person to stabilize the Ministry's finances. That person was Charles Henderson of Jacksonville, Florida. Charles had been donating $365 a year to the ministry since its beginning. During a meeting with Dave in Florida, he suggested that the Ministry should set up a program of supporters who would commit to give a dollar a day for a year. That suggestion led to the establishment of the Prophecy Partner Program. ✚

25 Years of the Lamplighter

Dr. David R. Reagan

The Lamplighter began as a newsletter in the fall of 1980. The very first issue was four pages long and contained a feature article about the Russian invasion of Israel that is prophesied in Ezekiel 38 and 39. I personally typed the entire issue on a manual typewriter and pasted it up myself.

The first issue of the Lamplighter in 1980.

In December of 1980, I reported to my board of trustees that my wife and I were spending an inordinate amount of time addressing mailouts like the newsletter. I asked if I could purchase an Addressograph machine. One of the trustees, Julius Hovan, from Gallatin, Tennessee, suggested instead that the Ministry purchase a computer. No one on the board knew anything about computers. The first desk top computers had just been released to the public.

Entering the Computer Age

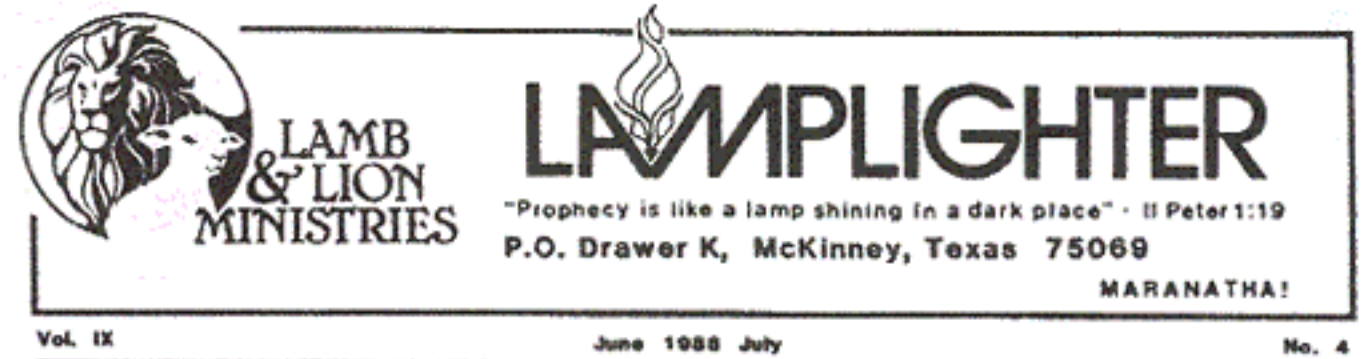

Mr. Hovan excused himself from the meeting to make a phone call. When he returned, he reported that the Ministry could purchase a Radio Shack TRS 80 Model II for $4,500. It had 64K of memory! Mr. Hovan offered to raise the money, and he proceeded to do just that during the next few weeks.

By January of 1981, I had the computer and was learning how to use it. The first time it printed mailing labels, I felt like dancing a jig! The January-February issue of 1981 was produced on the computer, using a Daisy Wheel printer. It didn't have the smooth look of proportional type, but it was a great improvement over the manual typewriter.

The computer used 8" floppy disks! Despite their enormous size, they had very little capacity. Thus, if a person moved from Texas to Tennessee, a disk designated for Texas would have to be inserted for them to be deleted; and then a disk designated for Tennessee would be inserted for them to be added. It was awkward and time consuming, but it sure beat doing it by hand on index cards!

Sharpening the Image

In the Spring of 1988, one of the Ministry's supporters who was a graphic artist sent me an idea for improving the masthead of the newsletter. The new design was introduced with the issue of June-July 1988. It featured a flame between the "a" and the "m" in the word, Lamplighter.

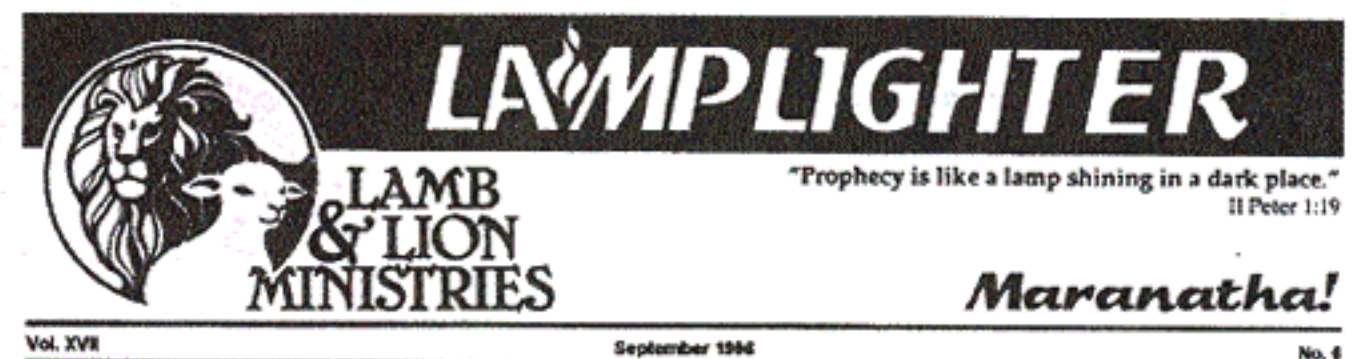

The new masthead introduced in 1988.

The Ministry was not able to afford a printer that could produce proportional type until 1990. The first edition of the Lamplighter to be printed with proportional type came out in October of 1990. It was a special edition devoted entirely to a discussion of the prophetic implications of the Gulf War.

The first eight page edition of the newsletter came out in December 1993. It featured a series of in-depth articles about the Incarnation, including what proved to be a very popular article about the star of Bethlehem. In that article Dr. Reagan tried to prove that the "star" was really the Shekinah glory of God.

In September of 1996 another new masthead was introduced. It was designed by a Christian graphic artist named Robyn Hafer. It gave the newsletter a more modern feel.

Transforming the Publication

During 1997 and 1998 I began to write longer and more in-depth articles for the newsletter, and I gradually expanded the number of pages from 8 to 12. The enthusiastic response of the readers encouraged me to begin thinking about transforming the newsletter into a magazine.

The change came with the May issue of 1998 when the number of pages was expanded to 16 and the publication was printed with a full color cover. The response of the readers was overwhelmingly positive, and the Lamplighter continues to this day to be one of the Ministry's most effective means of outreach.

Distributing the Magazine

The publication is currently being sent to over 20,000 addresses all over the country. The mailing list includes 5,000 churches. The magazine is distributed free of charge. It costs about $20 per year to print it and mail it to each person or church on the mailing list.

If the publication is a blessing to you, we would appreciate receiving a donation of $20 or more designated for "The Lamplighter." Thank you! ✚

22 Years of Radio Broadcasts

Dr. David R. Reagan

It all began with a phone call from a farmer in West Texas in May of 1980. The Ministry was only two months old.

"I've heard a tape of yours about the Jews in Bible prophecy," he said. And then he asked, "Are you on the radio?" I told him I was not.

"Weeell," he said, drawing out the word in a typical Texas drawl, "I think the Lord wants you to get on the radio with your message."

"Why do you say that?" I asked.

"Let's just say that while I was listening to the tape, the Lord spoke to me and said, 'Call that fellow and tell him to get on the radio.'"

"But I can't afford to do that."

"How much does it cost?" he asked.

I replied that I didn't know, but whatever it cost, I didn't have the money. "This ministry is only two months old. I don't have a dime," I explained.

"Well," he said, "you check with a radio station and find out how much it costs. Then, you call me back."

I called back the next day and reported that the going rate in Dallas was $50 a day.

"That's peanuts!" he exclaimed.

"It may be to you. But I don't have that kind of money," I responded.

"Well," he said, "I tell you what I'm going to do. I'm going to send you a check and you use it to get on the radio. If God wants you to stay on the radio, He will provide your needs. I'm doing what God has told me to do. This one check is all I'm going to give, so don't ever call me and ask for any more money."

A few days later I received a check for $4,000! I used it to start broadcasting "Christ in Prophecy" on one station in Dallas in June of 1980.

One man heard the Lord and responded in faithfulness to what he felt the Lord told him to do. And because of that one man's faith and obedience, we completed over 5,000 radio broadcasts before we converted our radio program into a television program in September of 2002.

Precious Memories

What a wonderful 22 years we spent in radio broadcasting. We received thousands of letters, phone calls and email messages in response to our radio programs. Most were complimentary and encouraging. Some were critical and challenging. And some were downright hilarious.

Dr. Reagan recording programs in the radio studio in 1982.

We received letters addressed to "Lemon and Lime Ministries," "Leg of Lamb Ministries," "Land of Lions Ministries," and "Lame and Blind Ministries."

One of the largest responses we ever received to a broadcast was when I offered a tape entitled, "Sects and Denominations." Say it aloud and you will understand — it sounds like "Sex in the Denominations." We were knee deep with requests. I'm sure it was one of the most disappointing tapes that people ever listened to!

My all time favorite radio letter came from a lady in Wichita, Kansas who said she listened to the broadcast every day with her four year old daughter. "I knew my daughter was a great fan of yours," she wrote, "but I never realized how much until last night. At the end of her bed time prayer, she said, 'And thank you God for Jesus, brought to us daily by Lamb and Lion Ministries.'"

I praise the Lord for the great outreach He gave us for so many years through radio, and I am thankful for all the wonderful memories associated with it. ✚

3 Years of Television Broadcasts

Dr. David R. Reagan

The decision to convert our radio program into a television program was a difficult one. We struggled with it for several years.

Several of our trustees and staff members began to suggest the possibility to me in the mid-90's, but I was reluctant to move in the direction of television. I was hesitant for two reasons.

First, I had discovered through experience that video production tends to be a bottomless pit of expenditures. I did not want to get into a situation where I had to spend a lot of broadcast time begging for money.

Second, I had come to realize that there is a substantive difference in radio and TV. With radio, the listener cannot see the one who is talking. The natural focus of attention is therefore the message and not the messenger. But that focus tends to change radically with TV. The attention naturally shifts from the message to the messenger, resulting often in over-bloated egos. I wanted none of that.

In the late-90's I finally decided to at least experiment by producing a few television programs. The costs overwhelmed us and convinced me that if we were ever to venture into TV, we would have to build a production facility and do the productions in-house.

Having become increasingly convinced that God wanted us to move in the direction of television, our board of trustees decided in 2000 to launch a fund-raising campaign for the construction of a video studio. It turned out to be the most successful fund-raising campaign I have ever been involved in. The funds literally came pouring in. Whereas in the past, I had often made the mistake of trying to run ahead of the Lord, this time we simply could not keep up with the Lord's pace!

Simultaneously we launched a search for a media director. Almost immediately the Lord led us to a young man named Don Gordoni. Don was a graduate of Southern Theological Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky. While attending school there, he got involved in video production at a local church. After graduation, he was hired to be a part of the video crew at First Baptist Church in Wichita Falls, Texas, where he had the opportunity to work under the oversight of a very creative video producer.

Don and his wife, Lori, and their wonderful family (now 8 children!) came on staff at a time when our hopes for video production were just a dream. But Don had caught the dream, and he wanted to be on the ground floor as we developed the dream into a reality.

After completing the video studio with the help of some overwhelmingly generous donations from many very generous people, we produced a few videos and then decided once again to give television a try. We put together a pilot program and submitted it to the DayStar Network in the Spring of 2002. We waited and waited for an answer. Finally, in mid-summer we were notified that our program had been selected over 30 others and that we could start broadcasting in September. We were excited!

Don McGee, Dave Reagan, and Dennis Pollock pose with the TV production crew while producing a series of programs about the book of Revelation.

Since we could not afford to do both radio and television broadcasting, we decided to terminate our radio program the first of September in 2002. That was a painful decision for us, and a lot of listeners let us know in no uncertain terms that they did not appreciate it. One man wrote: "When I turned on my radio and discovered you were no longer there, I felt like my dog had died." I decided to take that as a compliment.

During the three years since that time, it has become abundantly clear to us that we made the right decision. God has richly blessed our television productions and broadcasts — and the response that we are receiving to them.

This past December, a couple in Houston, Texas gave us a gift of $150,000 which they designated for "TV expansion." We tithed the gift to fellow Bible prophecy ministries, leaving us with a total of $135,000. We then signed a contract with the Inspiration Network for $130,000 and started broadcasting over that network in January.

Today, through both the DayStar and Inspiration Networks, we have access to over 40 million homes in America. Our program is also broadcast internationally by DayStar over several satellites.

Between now and next year, we must increase our regular income by $130,000 if we are to continue broadcasting over the Inspiration Network. Please join us in praying for the Lord to make this happen. ✚

In late June, Don Perkins, founder and director of According to Prophecy Ministries in San Diego, California, came to our studios and made two TV programs with Dr. Reagan concerning the topic: "Charting Bible Prophecy." They utilized some Bible prophecy charts that date back to the 1920's. The charts were used by a traveling evangelist in Texas and were given to Lamb & Lion Ministries by Mr. and Mrs. Stancil Bynum of Van, Texas. The programs are scheduled for broadcast early next year.

As reported on page 15, Dr. Reagan took a scouting party of five people to Turkey in July to visit the sites of the seven churches of Revelation. They also visited the Isle of Patmos.

If permission can be received from the Turkish government, the ministry hopes to take a video crew back to Turkey sometime next year to videotape four television programs about the churches of Revelation.

Between now and the end of this year, we will be contacting a number of churches to request that they include us in their missions budgets next year. We need to increase our income by $130,000 to cover the costs of continuing to broadcast on both the DayStar and Inspiration Networks. A very generous donation at the first of this year made it possible for us to expand to the Inspiration network. That donation will not be available at the beginning of next year. Our TV program has access to 40 million homes in the United States and to millions of others world wide via satellite.

We wish you would consider recommending us to the missions outreach committee of your church. Another way you can help is to become a Prophecy Partner. To do that, simply call 1-800-705-8316. ✚

EXPERIENCING THE HOLY LAND

Observations by Dr. David R. Reagan

In June we took our largest group ever on a pilgrimage to the Holy Land — a total of 72. Don McGee, founder and director of Crown & Sickie Ministries in Amite, Louisiana, served as co-host of the tour.

Some of the men from the pilgrimage group in front of the Western Wall or Wailing Wall in the Old City of Jerusalem.

The Lord blessed us richly as we traveled the land, walking in the footsteps of Jesus. We began the pilgrimage in the modern city of Tel Aviv, a place few groups ever visit. We walked around Old Jaffa, the port from which Jonah departed on his ill-fated cruise. We strolled through the fascinating outdoor Carmel Market. When we ate lunch on Dizengoff Street, the group was introduced to the Israeli equivalent of an American hamburger, a sandwich called a Falafel. After lunch, we visited Esther House, the home of one of Israel's largest Messianic congregations, where we heard a presentation by the congregation's rabbi, Avi Mizrachi. We completed the day by visiting Independence Hall where the Israeli Declaration of Independence was read by David Ben Gurion on May 14, 1948. And that was just the first day of the tour!

The David Smiley Family from Noblesville, Indiana. They are standing on the Mount of Olives, overlooking the Old City of Jerusalem.

From Tel Aviv we traveled north up the coast making stops at Caesarea Maritime, Mt. Carmel, Haifa, and Akko, before proceeding on to Tiberias on the Sea of Galilee. We spent the next two nights there while we toured the Galilee. We conducted devotional services on the Hill of the Beatitudes and at Korazin and Capernaum, two of the towns where Jesus focused His ministry. We completed our time in the Galilee with a baptismal service in the Jordan River.

Tim Brock, pastor of White River Christian Church in Noblesville, Indiana, speaks to the group in the Garden of Gethsemane.

En route to Jerusalem we stopped off in Nazareth, Megiddo, and Bet Shean. Megiddo is the ancient fortress that guarded access to the Valley of Armageddon. Bet Shean is one of the largest archeological excavations in the world. It is where King Saul's body was nailed to the city walls.

The final four days of the tour were spent in the city of Jerusalem where we visited the Old City, Mt. Zion, Bethlehem, Ein Kerem, the Holocaust Museum, and Mt. Herzl Cemetery, among other sites. The highlight of the pilgrimage came on our last morning in Jerusalem when we visited the Garden Tomb and held a communion service.

We have two pilgrimages scheduled for 2006, one in late April and the other in mid-October. Call 1-800-705-8316 for detailed information. ✚

SCOUTING OUT TURKEY

A Report by Dr. David R. Reagan

In early July our Media Minister, Don Gordoni, and I traveled to the nation of Turkey to scout out the locations of the seven churches of Revelation. We did this in preparation for taking a video crew over there in 2006 to shoot several TV programs.

Two of the ministry's trustees accompanied us — Jerry Lauer of Anaheim, California, and Sam McCullough of Owasso, Oklahoma. Sam's wife, Denise, also traveled with us.

I had never been to these sites, and I felt it was imperative that I see them personally before trying to write several television scripts about them. Don made extensive notes about camera angles at each site. Jerry and Sam took extensive photos of each site, and Denise recorded every word spoken by our Turkish guide.

We stayed the entire time at a hotel in Izmir, a city of three million people located on the western coast of Turkey. Izmir is located on the site of the ancient town of Smyrna and was, in fact, still called Smyrna as late as 1923.

We discovered that very little remains of the ancient cities mentioned in chapters 2 and 3 of the book of Revelation. Smyrna has been obliterated by modern day Izmir. Only one city block of ruins can be found at Thyatira. Philadelphia contains only a couple of columns from a church that dates back to 6th Century AD. Laodecia has an impressive theater, but most of the site is currently being excavated and is off limits to visitors.

The sites that contain impressive archaeological remains are Ephesus, Pergamum, and Sardis. At Sardis you can see the largest Jewish synagogue that has ever been found among archaeological ruins (including those that have been uncovered in Israel). There is also a very impressive gymnasium. But most interesting are the remains of a magnificent temple built in honor of the Greek God Artemis, whom the Romans referred to as Diana.

The acropolis (fortified citadel) at Pergamum was the most dramatic site we visited. Built high atop a steep hill, the acropolis contained temples to six Greek gods as well as a temple dedicated to the Roman Caesars. Built on the side of the hill is the steepest theater ever discovered. It seated 10,000 people, meaning that the population of the city at the time it was built was around 100,000. At the base of the hill is a group of buildings known as the Asklepion. This was a hospital complex that served as the workplace of Hypocrates, the father of medicine. Pergamum also contained a world famous library, second in size only to the one in Alexandria, Egypt.

The most extensive ruins are to be found at Ephesus. It is also the site that is the most crowded with people. Being located right on the coast, it is easily accessible to cruise ships. This is a fascinating city where the Apostle Paul spent three years of his life and where the Apostle John spent the final years of his life.

I made several surprising discoveries during my visits to these ancient sites. First, I was surprised to discover the dominance of Greek culture in these towns. All the ancient inscriptions are in Greek, and the temples are built to honor Greek gods. My second surprise was the extensive degree of idolatry that characterized the culture of these towns. I was reminded of Paul's experience in Athens where he encountered statues to many different gods, including one to "The Unknown God."

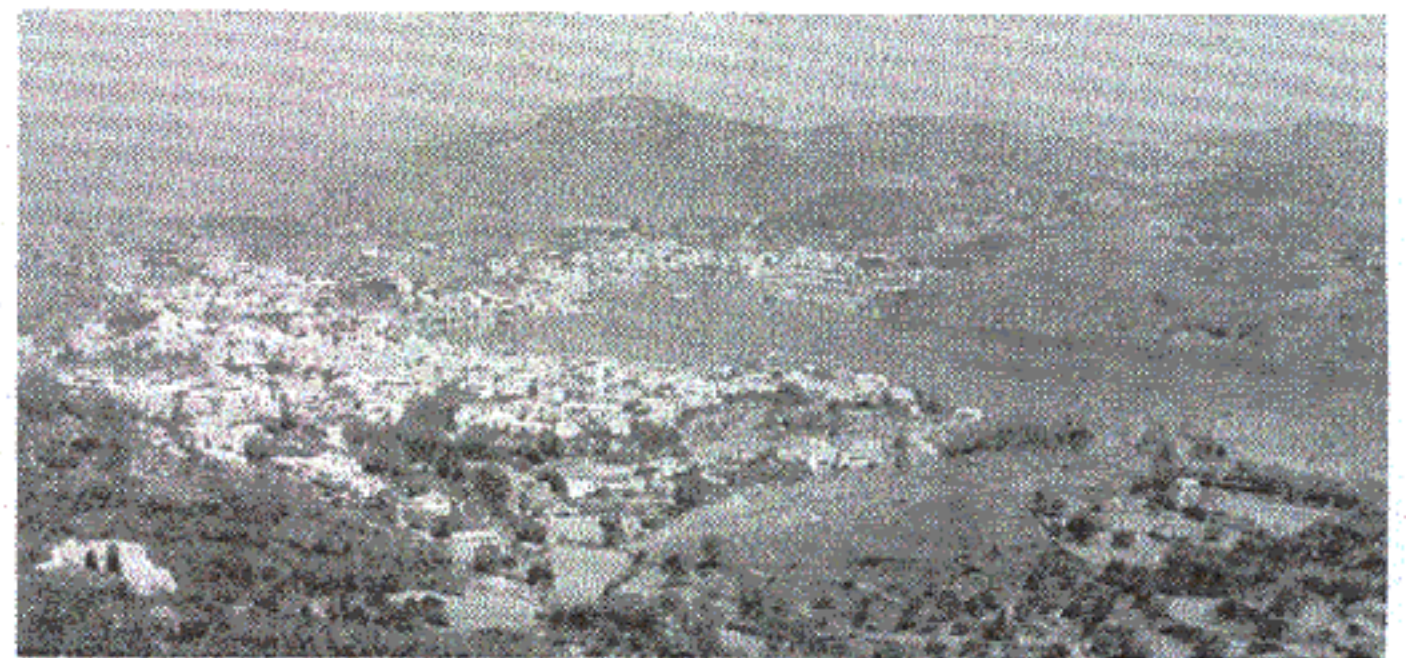

My final surprise had to do with the nature of modern day Turkey. Although the country is 98% Muslim, I found it to be radically different from the Muslim countries I was familiar with in the Middle East. That's because the Turkish people are not Arabs and therefore do not have an Arab culture. The Turkish nation is very modern and Western.

Everything — streets, toilets, buildings, etc. — is meticulously clean. To my astonishment, I discovered that Turkey is the only Muslim country in the world that has declared Sunday to be its holy day! All other Muslim countries observe the traditional Muslim Sabbath which is on Friday.

On our final day in Turkey, we traveled by boat to the Isle of Patmos, which is in Greek territory. There we visited the cave that marks the traditional site where John wrote the book of Revelation. Again, I was surprised. I was expecting to see a barren rock of an island. Instead, I found the island to be charming. In fact, the port town of 3,000 people is every bit as beautiful as the port at Santa Catalina Island off the coast of Los Angeles.

The theater at Pergamum.

The port at the Isle of Patmos.

We hope to return to Turkey sometime next year to shoot at least four TV programs about the seven churches of Revelation. First we need to get the permission of the Turkish government. And then we must raise a minimum of $20,000. Please pray with us about this project. ✚

A Powerful Indictment of European Appeasement

Editor's Note: Mathias Döpfner, chief executive of the huge German publishing house, Axel Springer AG, recently wrote a blistering attack in Die Welt (The World), Germany's largest daily newspaper, against the timid reaction of Europe in the face of the growing Islamic threat to Western civilization. The article caused a sensation all across Europe.

Europe — Thy Name is Cowardice

Mathias Döpfner

A few days ago Henry Broder wrote in Welt am Sonntag, (Sunday World): "Europe — your family name is appeasement." It's a phrase you can't get out of your head because it's so terribly true.

Appeasement cost millions of Jews and non-Jews their lives as England and France, allies at the time, negotiated and hesitated too long before they noticed that Hitler had to be fought, not bound to toothless agreements.

Appeasement legitimized and stabilized Communism in the Soviet Union, then East Germany, then all the rest of Eastern Europe where for decades, inhuman, suppressive, murderous governments were glorified as the ideologically correct alternative to all other possibilities.

Appeasement crippled Europe when genocide ran rampant in Kosovo, and even though we had absolute proof of on-going mass murder, we Europeans debated and debated and debated until the Americans came in and did our work for us.

Rather than protecting democracy in the Middle East, European appeasement, camouflaged behind the fuzzy word "equidistance," now countenances suicide bombings in Israel by fundamentalist Palestinians.

Appeasement generates a mentality that allows Europe to ignore 500,000 victims of Saddam's torture and murder machinery and, motivated by the self-righteousness of the peace-movement, has the gall to issue bad grades to George Bush.

A particularly grotesque form of appeasement is to be found in our reacting to the escalating violence of Islamic fundamentalists by suggesting that we should have a Muslim holiday in Germany! I wish I were joking, but I am not. A substantial fraction of our government, and if the polls are to be believed, the German people, actually believe that creating an official state "Muslim Holiday" will somehow spare us from the wrath of the fanatical Islamists. One cannot help but recall Britain's Neville Chamberlain waving the laughable treaty signed by Adolf Hitler, and declaring "we have peace in our time."

What else has to happen before the European public and its political leadership get it? There is a sort of crusade underway, an especially perfidious crusade, consisting of systematic attacks by fanatic Muslims, focused on civilians and directed against our free, open Western societies.

It is a conflict that will most likely last longer than the great military conflicts of the last century — a conflict conducted by an enemy that cannot be tamed by tolerance and accommodation but is actually spurred on by such gestures, which will be taken by the Islamists for signs of weakness.

Two recent American presidents have had the courage needed for anti-appeasement: Reagan and Bush. Reagan ended the Cold War, freeing half the German people from nearly 50 years of terror and virtual slavery. And Bush, supported only by the Social Democrat Tony Blair, acting on moral conviction, recognized the danger in the Islamic war against democracy.

In the meantime, Europe sits back with charismatic self-confidence in the multicultural corner instead of defending liberal society's values and being an attractive center of power on the same playing field as the true great powers, America and China.

On the contrary — we Europeans present ourselves, in contrast to those "arrogant Americans" as the world champions of tolerance . . . Why? Because we're so moral? I fear it's more because we're so materialistic, so devoid of a moral compass.

For his policies, Bush risks the fall of the dollar, huge amounts of additional national debt and a massive and persistent burden on the American economy — because unlike almost all Europe, Bush realizes what is at stake — literally everything.

While we criticize the "capitalistic robber barons" of America because they seem so sure of their priorities, we timidly defend our social welfare systems. Stay out of it! It could get expensive! We'd rather discuss reducing our 35-hour work week or increasing our dental coverage or our four weeks of paid vacation. Or we would prefer to listen to TV pastors preach about "reaching out to terrorists, to understand and forgive them."

These days, Europe reminds me of an old woman, who with shaking hands, frantically hides her last pieces of jewelry when she notices a robber has broken into a neighbor's house.

Europe, thy name is cowardice. ✚

An Insightful Indictment of “Dr. Death”

The Kevorkian Conundrum

Debra J. Saunders

(Editor’s Note: Debra J. Saunders is a nationally syndicated columnist for The San Francisco Chronicle.)

Why is Jack Kevorkian still alive? The assisted-suicide enthusiast, who says he helped some 130 people kill themselves, is in prison for the 1998 murder of Thomas Youk, who suffered from Lou Gehrig’s disease. While Kevorkian says he never actively killed anyone before Youk — he instead helped the afflicted kill themselves — the death doc personally injected Youk with poison in 1998 and videotaped the procedure so it could be aired on “60 Minutes.”

Kevorkian with his murder machine.

Kevorkian said he killed Youk on camera because he wanted to challenge Michigan’s assisted-suicide law. He told the Oakland Press of Michigan he wanted a “showdown:” “I want to be prosecuted for euthanasia. I am going to prove that this is not a crime, ever, regardless of what words are written on paper.”

As the saying goes: Be careful what you wish for. Kevorkian got his trial — and to his surprise, a jury convicted him of second-degree murder and sentenced him to 10 to 25 years behind bars. Kevorkian promptly threatened to go on a hunger strike in prison. After prison authorities announced they would not force-feed the death doc, presto change-o, he decided to eat. And live.

Jack Kevorkian

Now, after losing appeals, Kevorkian’s attorney Mayer Morganroth is asking Michigan Gov. Jennifer Granholm to pardon Kevorkian or commute his sentence. According to the Detroit Free Press, Morganroth cites Kevorkian’s health problems — high blood pressure, arthritis, hernias, hepatitis C, cataracts, heart disease, adrenal insufficiency suggestive of Addison’s disease and lung disease — as cause for Gov. Granholm to release Kevorkian from the slammer.

The irony here is that, before prison, Kevorkian saw the above as reason to release others from the mortal coil. While he likes to portray himself as a man who helped terminally ill people die, many of his victims were not terminal, and it’s not clear some were particularly ill. His first victim, Janet Adkins, had early Alzheimer’s disease, but she was 54 and fit enough to play tennis days before she visited Kevorkian’s death van.

If Kevorkian, now 76, felt comfortable helping a fifty-something tennis player pull her plug, surely he should regard his own poor health as deserving the ultimate remedy — what he dubbed “medicide” . . .

According to the Oakland Press, Mr. Morganroth said Kevorkian doesn’t expect his client to live “more than a year.” Truth be told, Team Kevorkian has a bit of a credibility problem. An appeals brief claims Kevorkian injected Youk not so much to kill Youk as to relieve his pain. Bunk.

This is choice: The brief sought an appeal because Kevorkian had incompetent counsel advising him. (Kevorkian served as his own lawyer but had attorneys advising him.) Now, according to Mr. Morganroth’s brief, Kevorkian “was under the impression that he was represented by counsel . . .”

Again, if Kevorkian is senile and sickly, shouldn’t he ask for deliverance instead of a commutation?

Think: Kevorkian has piled up 130 corpses. He helped kill people without really knowing their medical condition. He extolled the virtues of “death with dignity.” When Michigan passed laws to prevent the carnage, he continued assisting suicides, even experimenting with sick new twists, such as the time he removed kidneys from a corpse — ostensibly for transplantation, except no real doctor would touch those butchered parts.

Now, Kevorkian’s lawyer says he should be free because he is sick. There is no talk of “death with dignity.” There is no talk of quality-of-life issues. There is no insistence on autonomy. To the contrary, while Kevorkian thought others should die if they lacked freedom of movement, he has survived five years in prison.

When you’re Jack Kevorkian, life is sweet.

Even behind bars. ✚

He has been preaching the gospel for over 25 years among some of the poorest people in his country. Throughout these years he has petitioned the government repeatedly for a parcel of land on which to build a church. Finally, last year, his prayers were answered when he was awarded a grant of land. To keep the land, he must build a permanent building on it. He has put up a temporary building that is pictured below.
